

The Harmonic Concordance and the Six-Petaled Rose

By Elizabeth C. Wilson

We are blessed with a rare opportunity of a "Spiritual Stargate" occurring in our very own solar system! So pay attention during the total Lunar Eclipse at 8:13 pm EST on November 8, 2003. The "Spiritual Stargate" energies extend through to the powerful solar eclipse on November 23rd at 5:59 pm EST. The astrology of this time-frame forms a planetary picture that combines a Grand Sextile and a multitude of astrological aspects indicating Spiritual Ascension. This extremely rare astrological pattern has become the focus of worldwide discussion and ceremony. Important personal and global insights are being highlighted right now through this sacred geometric alignment (www.harmonicconcordance.com).

Discovered by astrologer John Mirehiel, this geometric alignment activates the possibilities of dialogue and interaction between humankind and the Divine--indicated by the Grand Sextile hexagonal outer framework. What is markedly striking is that when looking at this configuration, there is an interposition of two triangles known as Grand Trines (creative ability) which form a huge star shape. This universally recognized form has many names, such as the "Star of David", the "Holy Grail and the Chalice," the "Sri Yantra," or the "Merkabah" (the vehicle for the Light Body's higher consciousness). This alignment further encourages us each to personally explore our mundane patterns by challenging our paradigms. We are encouraged to find unity inside of diversity. This is indicated by the three sets of Complementary Oppositions found with the Harmonic Concordance Chart. Where these six points interact in our own charts, show us where we will be affected profoundly.

The astrological structures found in this Full Moon Grand Sextile show us how to release, open and balance our hearts and minds in the face of polarizing energies--evidenced in our daily lives. There are three sets of solar and planetary oppositions within this configuration. They can help us to balance. When we release fear, Love thrives, and we may recognize our extraordinary ability to re/connect. The hidden yet vital central 7th position in this matrix appears. We empower our ability to connect with the Divine. This is mirrored in many other seven-fold systems such as the Chakras, Angelic Realms and the patterns of the Labyrinth (www.gracecathedral.org). This forms the Grand Sextile or "six-petaled rose" plus its center and is mirrored in sacred geometry. The center of the labyrinth represents the self (or seventh chakra), and is the connective point to the Divine. Walking a labyrinth is one of the ways to balance both hemispheres of the brain so that the "wholeness" or "holiness" of the individual is able to connect and create new union and Joy! The 3 sets of energies being balanced are:

- Transformative Scorpio Sun balances the grounding energy of the Taurean Moon--old habits may be released;

- Virgoian Jupiter lends keen discernment while Piscean Mars provides the compassionate basis to act upon spiritual principle;

- Cancerian Saturn insists upon refining old worn-out structures and emotional baggage while Capricornian Chiron provides healing ability to replace the tired "status quo" with a well-thought-out matrix.

We are being given a powerful Blessing now, a veritable Galactic Invitation to join with the Cosmic Shift! So whether you are spending the day solo or with others, take a moment and explore the Six-Petaled Rose of Possibility and Connection offered at this special Harmonic Concordance.

~Many Blessings & Peace~
